London Oct 22nd 1833

Dear Sir

I had the pleasure to address you a few lines on the 17th of this month, on the prospects and occupations that had been presented to our Agents in London

I have little to add at the present moment but a favorable opportunity offers for the transmission of the Medal struck by Mr Merlen's Prop., and which that Gentleman desired me to present to you I therefore take advantage of the return of Captain Jenkins formerly of the Union Line to send it to you

I have seen a work of an extremely interesting character on the States, but as it is expensive and does not immediately belong to my department of research I have not thought proper to purchase it, without previously reporting to you, observing that its title is sufficiently descriptive of the character of the work and its contents and renders a further description unnecessary it was published in 1832 under the title of "a historical enquiry into the production and consumption of the precious metals" by Jacobs 2 vols octavo price 24 shillings

I am most respectfully

Yours obliged

Mathew Peale
